

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

April 11, 2011

Rubber-Cal Casts Its Vote for Team Coco On Tomorrow's Episode of Conan

The late-night feud between Conan O'Brien and Jay Leno may be officially over, but Conan's following continues to grow. Conan's supporters, widely known on the web as "Team Coco," have followed the host to a new network. Now, Orange County, California-based Rubber-Cal, Inc. has pledged its allegiance to "Team Coco" as well. The firm's flexible ducting product will be featured on the episode of Conan airing Tuesday, April 12, 2011 on TBS.

Rubber-Cal, a sheet rubber and industrial hose firm, recently sold its 28-inch diameter Air Ventilator Duct Hose to Conan O'Brien's popular new TBS series Conan. The 25-foot flexible ducting product is large enough that the average person can crawl through it easily. Although the Air Ventilator flex duct is generally used in industrial ventilation applications, it has also been used as dog tunnels in obstacle courses.

Rubber-Cal is an industrial rubber company specializing in sheet rubber and flexible duct hose products. Television opportunities like Conan allow Rubber-Cal to educate consumers about its products in a way that is entertaining and fun. Its brands include Ducting.com, RubberCal.com, Floor Mat Company.com and, most recently, CoirMat.com, a store dedicated to eco-friendly rubber and coco doormats. Rubber-Cal's rubber flooring products have recently appeared on ABC's Extreme Makeover: Home Edition and WWE Tough Enough.

###

Press Contact: Erica Dessenberger
Phone: (800) 370-9152